That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians have discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases. If we would properly investigate them and in the preparation of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvellous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most powerful stomachic, tonic, liver, kidney, and heart tonic and regulator, and blood purifier known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion, torpid liver, flatulency, and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvellous in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weakness and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is simply attested by thousands of published testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic troubles, painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus, and other disorders, caused by weakness, derangement of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines, and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original, and Dr. Pierce and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle wrapper.

WARNING TO COLORED RACE

Judge Handley yesterday sentenced to death Isham and Joe Taylor and Lewis Jenkins, all colored, who were convicted Wednesday of having murdered Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Shipwith and Walter G. Johnson. They will be executed April 30 in the penitentiary at Richmond.

William Brown is now on trial for murder and John Brown, his father, was being tried today for arson and burglary, both capital crimes in Virginia. John Brown is the man sentenced Wednesday evening to 15 years' imprisonment for complicity in the Shipwith murder plot.

In sentencing the prisoners Judge Handley said:

"It would be false to my convictions of duty if I failed to utter some words of warning to your people. The savages who once ranged over this land never planned a massacre with more heartless cruelty. You were not strangers to the man or to the aged and helpless woman who murdered, but you lived almost at their door and fed upon their bounty. You came to their door in the night time and, with the voice and language of friends, you called the man to the door and shut him down, brained the good old lady with an axe, dragged her body down the steps like the carcass of a slaughtered beast, and burned them up in their own dwelling. The most discouraging and shocking feature of it is that so many of you in the same neighborhood could be induced to engage in it; that it could be conducted with such profound secrecy, and is regarded by your people with such indifference. Viewed in that light, it assumes a dark and sinister aspect; marks an epoch in the history of your race and furnishes a sad commentary on the long and patient struggle of good men to find a way by which two distinct, diverse and alien peoples may dwell together in peace under the same institutions and laws with equal opportunities and privileges."

THE KIDNAPPERS.

Fearing for the safety of their prisoners if they were taken to Sharon or the county seat at Mercer, James H. Boyle and his wife, accused of kidnapping Willie Whittle, were brought last night to the Allegheny county jail in Pittsburgh, Pa. They were brought in a special Pullman car from Cleveland, by way of Youngstown and Newcastle, over the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, and arrived at 9:45 p. m. The prisoners were guarded in their car by sixteen detectives and officers. It was the unanimous opinion of the officers engaged on the case that it would be safer not to take any chances by exposing their prisoners to the wrath of the Sharon populace. On the arrival of the train at Pittsburgh the prisoners were placed in an automobile and rushed to the jail. Boyle was manacled and guarded by two detectives, but the woman was allowed to walk beside an officer. Mrs. Boyle chatted freely and seemed to be in a happy frame of mind.

Guarded by several private detectives in plain clothes, James P. Whittle, father of the abducted lad for whose ransom $10,000 was paid, returned to his home in Sharon, Pa., last night, bringing with him the money which was recovered when James Boyle and his wife were arrested in Cleveland. The package of bills, still marked as they were said to have been paid to the abductors by Mr. Whittle, were taken to the safety department of the Sharon Savings and Trust Company, which kept its doors open till Mr. Whittle reached there, about 9 o'clock last night. The money was carefully placed in a safety deposit box to remain till it may be needed as evidence in the kidnapping trial.

SUFFERING OF EXPLORERS.

Lieutenant Shackleton's ship Nimrod has returned to Christchurch, New Zealand with the exploring party aboard, all well. Members of the expedition gave some details in addition to those already published. Professor David and his companions recount that when they started on the journey to the magnetic pole the weather was so hot that they had to pull their two sledges in singlets. There was half a ton of provisions on each sledge.

After a comparatively easy 250-mile journey along the sea ice, they had a hard and almost hopeless climb to the inland plateau. They carried their lives in their hands, fighting their way inch by inch, and suffered great privations on the return journey. When rescued by the Nimrod they were a party of gaunt skeletons; the Nimrod had almost given them up for lost.

The members of Lieutenant Shackleton's party say that when they were compelled to turn back their bodily strength was diminishing so rapidly that their temperature went down to far below normal, in some cases reaching to 93 degrees, and in others considerably lower, than that. (The normal temperature of the human body is 98.6 degrees.) They nearly died from starvation before finding one of the depots, and always on short rations.

Had their party been two days later in reaching the Nimrod she would have been frozen in for another season. They declare that any future explorer attempting to reach the pole must be provided with much larger supplies of food, because there is no doubt that the south pole is situated on a high plateau and that the coldest and stormiest weather in the world prevails there, there being 70 degrees of frost under the very mild conditions.

HEIRESS DISAPPEARS.

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Martha Coles, a girl who is said to be worth $1,000,000, but who, up to Wednesday night, had been working as a domestic for Mrs. M. F. Reilly, in Brooklyn. An individual, who said he was a lawyer from Wales, appeared at the Reilly home last night, and asked to see Martha. He told the girl that he was an executor of her grandfather's estate in Wales, and that she, as one of ten heirs, was entitled to $1,000,000. Shortly after the lawyer left, Martha announced that she was going out to "celebrate her good fortune," and she has not been seen by the Reilly family since. Representatives of the executors have ascribed for Martha and her brother and sister for five years.
